

MILITIA CALLED TO QUELL RIOTS

Buffalo Police Unable to Cope With Furious Mob.

Buffalo, April 9.—Two regiments of the national guard were called to duty at night following a day in which scores were injured, 400 cars either wrecked or temporarily put out of commission, and Chief of Police again, while in his automobile was attacked by a mob in sympathy with striking street car men. Buffalo officials have been unable to cope with the situation and the increasing violence of demonstrations, coupled with refusal on the part of the company to arbitrate with the strikers, made military aid imperative.

All efforts to bring strike leaders and officials of the company together to discuss arbitration failed and there is little hope of a speedy termination of the tie-up which again last night was practically complete.

Several shots were fired last night by the mob at Chief Regan's machine. A few struck the automobile, but one hit the chief or his companions. Police with drawn revolvers dispersed the mob.

Riot Calls Are Numerous.

Tuesday was the most disorderly since the strike began. The rioting was not confined to any particular part of the city. No sooner would police reserves quell a disturbance at one point than a riot call came in from some other section. In several places fire alarms were turned in and the arrival of fire apparatus aided in scattering the mobs. Sounds of firing echoed through the city streets at intervals all day.

The first bloodshed came when a mob of sympathizers surrounded a car at Walden-av and Latour-st. Full of strike breakers, it was quickly surrounded by a jeering, hooting throng and stones were hurled through the windows. A strike breaker drew a revolver and fired. Francis Murphy, 38, fell to the pavement with a bullet in his groin. He is dying in the emergency hospital. The crowd then totally wrecked the car and the strike breakers fled. A short time later there was a battle between strikers and strike breakers near Loeper-st in which Stanley Obernewski was shot through the jaw. There were a dozen other instances of gun battles, but in these no one was seriously hurt.

The hospitals, however, are filled with men who fell under the terrific onslaught of the night sticks wielded by the police.

Motorman Deserts Car.

A crowd of strikers attacked two Seneca-st cars at Bailey-av. A volley of missiles greeted them. The inexperienced motorman on the second car fled and his car crashed into the one ahead. That jumped the tracks and ran down Stephen Mayers, 25, a brick struck down John Terry of New York, strike breaker running one of the cars. His skull was fractured and it is thought he will die. While whispering a crowd at Broadway and Young-av Patrolman Hastings was shot through the arm.

Broadway was the storm center Tuesday. Ten thousand people lined that thoroughfare and attacked every car that came through. After a dozen cars had been wrecked and the crews injured, the company late in the afternoon abandoned efforts to run cars on that line and concentrated all efforts to keeping the Main-st line open. Then for two hours rioting raged along Main-st. The result usually was the same; a mob would surround a car, smash the windows and pull the strike breakers off. Police reserves would dash in on a gallop, heavy sticks would crack over the heads of the attackers and in a few minutes an ambulance would pull up and carry off the unconscious and wounded. Finally the company gave up the effort and all car service was abandoned.

The effort to run cars on the South side failed completely. One car was sent out on the South Park line. For miles along South Park-av barbed wire had been built, and at Triangle-st the job derailed the car and demolished it, forcing the strike breakers to run. The abandoned car is still in the street.

An Elk-st car met a similar fate, and the company has made no effort to bring the ruined car back to the yard.

A serious riot occurred last evening in front of police headquarters, when a mob surrounded an Elmwood-av car and smashed all the windows. Officers poured from the station and beat the crowd back.

Will Treat All Comers.

Providence, R. I., April 9.—Dr. Friedrich Franz Friedmann, the noted German preventive cure man, is at the Narragansett hotel, where he will remain for the next week or so and treat all comers possible, regardless of their financial condition, according to an announcement. There has been hundreds of letters, telegrams and telephone messages from consumptives seeking appointments, and many offers of huge sums for treatment.

REGARDING POSTAGE

Washington, April 8.—Patrons of the parcel post system are not to be made pay for the negligence of postmasters in failing to see that proper stamps were used on the parcels or that the proper amount of postage was affixed. Postmaster General Burleson has annulled the order providing for the collection of a double rate of postage when ordinary stamps instead of the distinctive parcel post stamps were used. Hereafter the postmasters must return to senders incorrectly stamped parcels before the stamps are cancelled with notice to use the correct stamps.

When the name of the sender is unknown the parcel will be shipped to its destination and the proper postage collected. In all instances the penalty of double postage is abolished.

DEFEAT PLAN OF THE 'WIDE OPEN CAUCUS'

Democrats of Lower Branch of Congress Meet.

Decide That Any Attempt by President Wilson to Dictate Policies to the House Will Not be Tolerated.

DAY IN CONGRESS.

Washington, April 9.—The house received a mass of public bills left over from last session. Gave unanimous consent to the provision for 5,500 copies of tariff bills requested by Mr. Underwood. Passed the bill providing for the direct election of United States senators by a vote of 160 to 77. The senate concurred immediately afterward and the bill was hurried off to the engraving clerk.

Senate—Received 144 bills, among them a bill introduced by Senator Works making it a felony to sell goods below cost to stifle competition.

Other important measures introduced were as follows: A bill automatically granting retrial in cases in which the federal judges express an opinion to a jury with respect to guilt of defendant.

A bill creating a rocky mountain national park in Colorado.

A bill providing compensation for isthmian canal and other civil employees injured in government service.

A bill providing a naval marine corps.

Washington, April 9.—In a bitterly fought three-hour caucus of the Democrats of the house, Representative Oscar Underwood demonstrated, by a vote of 167 to 84, that any attempt by President Wilson to dictate policies to the house will not be tolerated. The question at issue was whether the Democratic caucus should be thrown wide open to the public, with Underwood and many prominent Democrats in opposition and Representatives Carlisle (Rep.), Wyoming, Henry of Texas, and other prominent Wilson men supporting the plan. Many bitter speeches were made, but after Underwood took the floor, and made a personal plea against the "wide open caucus," the tide quickly turned against the Wilson men and they were beaten to the tune of about 2 to 1.

OSBORNE TO BE BRYAN'S AID

Former Governor of Wyoming Will Fill Position Formerly Occupied by Huntington Wilson.

Washington, April 9.—The new assistant secretary of state who will take the place made vacant by the resignation of Huntington Wilson is to be former Gov. John E. Osborne of Wyoming. He and Secretary Bryan are close personal friends.

President Wilson has not yet made official announcement of the appointment, but Osborne spent all of Tuesday at the state department and no secret was made of the fact that he was there to learn the duties of first assistant to the secretary of state.

Woman Mayor Elected in Kansas.

Coffeyville, Kan., April 9.—A woman mayor and a majority of women in the council of Tyro, a small town west of here, was assured by complete returns of the election. Mrs. H. C. Deffenbaugh was elected mayor. Mrs. T. F. Herring, Mrs. Myra Newton and Mrs. Maggie Ford were elected to the council.

Colorado Limited Wrecked.

St. Louis, April 9.—The Wabash railroad's Colorado limited was wrecked near Kinloch Park, about 15 miles from St. Louis, by the spreading of the rails due to high water. Two men were seriously injured and seven bruised and out.

GOOD ROADS TAX BILL IS UP TO COX

Hite Measure Is Now Practically State Law.

Special Columbus Correspondent.

Columbus, April 9.

THE Hite bill levying one-half of one mill annually for road construction and repair during the next nine years became practically a law when the house formally agreed to senate amendments. The bill really takes the place of the proposed good roads bond issue which was defeated as a constitutional amendment last fall. It is expected to raise annually nearly $4,000,000 for a system of inter-county and market roads and an aggregate of approximately $35,000,000 in nine years.

The house passed the Mills bill allowing cities to issue bonds of $100 denomination for self-supporting municipally owned public utilities. The purpose of the bill would be to market such bonds among the people generally whenever the municipality was unable to find a good market among big bond buyers. The Mills bill would exempt such bonds from the operations of the Longworth act, limiting the bonded debt of municipalities.

Would Change Smith Law.

Action of the house in passing to third reading the Kilpatrick bill taking the 1910 limitation out of the Smith one per cent law marks the first step toward what is believed to be a general assault on the bill. The Kilpatrick measure is one of those demanded by flood stricken communities. The 1910 limitation as it stands prevents any community from raising more revenue than was raised in the year 1910 plus an allowance of 6 per cent for each intervening annual period. This restriction has proven more galling than any other in the tax limitation law and there has been constant demand for its removal ever since the Smith one per cent law became operative. The next efforts will be to exempt from the operation of the Smith law the state levy and all levies for interest and sinking fund purposes. These changes are approved by the association of city officials known as the Ohio Municipal league. They argue that most of the growing cities of the state are now seriously handicapped by the limit law.

Anti-Coal Screen Bill.

Unprecedented bitterness of feeling is resulting from the fight between coal miners and operators over the Green anti-screen bill which passed the senate some time ago. The conflict reached a climax when the operators succeeded in having the house adopt a resolution providing for the appointment of a commission by the governor to investigate the general question of the screening of coal. The effect of the resolution would be to postpone action by the house on the anti-screen bill. That bill proposes to have miners paid for the coal they dig before it is passed over a screen. The present practice of operators is to pay for dug coal only after the slack and small pieces have been screened out. Several days ago the house defeated the investigating resolution on the ground that it was meant only to delay the Green bill. After adopting a resolution to delay the bill, the house passed the measure to third reading.

Government of Municipalities.

The house passed the Smith bill providing for three optional plans for government of municipalities. The three plans are federal as now, commission and general manager. The measure provides partisan nominations but non-partisan election municipal officers.

The senate passed the house measure making banks and building and loan associations pay cost of their inspection and making building and loan inspection separate state department.

The senate public works committee has given its approval to the Hudson bills designed to allow other states to aid in the construction of the proposed ship canal from Ashtabula through the northeastern part of the state to the Ohio river. Pennsylvania and West Virginia are especially interested. The Hudson measure would allow them to come into Ohio and condemn and appropriate land for such a canal. The senate committee, however, struck out the provision which would make the land so appropriated not taxable. Two years ago a bill was passed allowing counties through which the canal might pass to issue bonds for its construction.

Investigation of White Slavery.

An investigation of white slavery in Ohio by the new industrial commission is called for in a joint resolution introduced by Representative G. P. Doster of Cleveland. The investigation is to follow the lines of the present O'Hara probe in Illinois. Some of the things which the commission must thoroughly investigate are:

Conditions under which women and girls are employed.

Hours of labor and pay of women and girls.

The white slave evil in all its phases.

Woman Makes Confession.

In April 1911, Darling, a laundry driver, began paying Mrs. Olson attention. Her husband was out of the city a large part of the time.

After secret meetings had been going on for nearly a year, her conscience began troubling her. According to the testimony, she begged Darling to stay away from her. He refused. When she threatened to tell her husband all, he replied that she would not dare, and he kept in fear by threatening the life of her husband. Finally she made a confession to her husband.

March 6, Prof. Olson returned from a trip over the state. Mrs. Olson was in Montevideo, visiting, and had intended returning that day. It was late at night. He was half dozing when he heard a sound in the yard. He went to a window and saw a figure approaching the back door, according to his testimony. He took his revolver and waited.

As the door opened Olson fired two shots. Both bullets went through the right lung of Darling.

The trial lasted six days. Mrs. Olson told her story from beginning to end. At the end of her testimony she collapsed.

OLSON FREED OF MURDER CHARGE

Former Minnesota University Professor Is Acquitted.

St. Paul, April 9.—"Not guilty" was the verdict of the jury in the case of Oscar M. Olson, formerly professor in the University of Minnesota, who on the evening of March 5 shot and killed Clyde Darling, laundry wagon driver, and admirer of his wife.

Dramatic Finish.

It was a dramatic finish to a dramatic trial. As the jury filed into the court room last night after less than four hours deliberation the professor rose from his chair and stood silently as they walked past him.

As the clerk read the verdict of "not guilty" the professor turned his head slowly in his direction and a look of bewilderment came into his face. He did not seem to understand.

Then one of his attorneys grasped his hand. This brought Olson to realization and tears slowly filled his eyes.

"Gentlemen, I thank you," he said, turning to the jury.

Each of the 12 men smilingly advanced toward the man whom they had freed and extended a hand.

Accompanied by an attorney he hurried through the jury of spectators and to a nearby office building. Finding a telephone he called up his aged mother in Montevideo, Minn., and said:

"It's all right, mother; I am not guilty. I'm going to see Lillian and Jean now. We will be with you tomorrow."

Lillian, the wife; Jeanne, his 5-year old daughter, neither was present.
